Rockford Spine Center Expands Physical Therapy Team, Hires Kim Alexander

Rockford, IL (July 22, 2014) - Rockford Spine Center has expanded its physical therapy department with the addition of Kim Alexander, ATC, PT, MPT. Alexander joins physical therapist Phil Oliveri and PT assistant Amy Peterson in providing physical therapy services to Rockford Spine Center patients. Alexander will be responsible for assessing patient needs, building treatment plans, guiding patients through recovery and ensuring continuity of care.

Alexander comes to Rockford Spine Center with 16 years of physical therapy experience. He earned a master's degree in physical therapy and bachelor's degree in athletic training, both from Northern Illinois University. In addition, he earned a bachelor's degree in biology from Drake University. He completed the Athletes Performance Rehabilitation Mentorship Program, is ASTYM certified and Functional Movement Screen certified. Alexander is a member of the American Physical Therapy Association and the National Athletic Trainers Association.

"Physical therapy is a key part of our conservative and comprehensive approach to patient care at Rockford Spine Center," says Dr. Fred Sweet, president, Rockford Spine Center. "We felt it was necessary to expand the PT department to meet the needs of our patients. Kim is a great addition to the team and will utilize his extensive experience to provide the highest quality of care to our patients."

Prior to joining Rockford Spine Center, Alexander held physical therapy positions with Accelerated Physical Therapy, Orthopedic and Sport Therapy Institute, Rebound Therapy Center and OSF Saint Anthony Center for Health, Sports Medicine & Fitness.
